

Masnavi-Drama: “Come whoever you are, come”
Group leaders: İnci Dođaner, Iřıl Bulut, Nevin Eracar

Born in 1207, Mevlana Celaleddin Rumi, is still one of the great spritual leaders of the world. Here is his seven famous advices: Be like a river in generosity and help; be like the sun in tenderness; be like the night in covering others faults; be like the dead in anger and rage; be like the soil in modesty and humility; be like the sea in indulgence and tolerance; be like you are seen or seen like you are.

As it is seen in this advises he was very much involved in role reversals; helping people to develop transadental roles.

Masnavi is his 6 Volumes book written as couplets. In this book he has told a lot of stories which helps the spritual evolution of the individuals. In traditon these stories are read in the groups of people and discussed.

In this workshop of three hours, 2 stories from Masnavi will be summed up and be dramatized with the participants.

The participants will have an idea of sufi philosophy at the end of the workshop.
